 - 5.3.2 in the event that no part of the Self Lay Works is found to be defective, the cost of such opening up and reinstatement shall be borne by the Undertaker unless the reason the Undertaker required the Self Lay Works to be opened up was because that part of the Self Lay Works had commenced before the Start Date, notice had not been given in accordance with clauses 3.2 and 3.3 or the Undertaker was not previously allowed access in accordance with clause 5.1, in which case the relevant costs (including reasonable administrative costs and incidental expenses) shall be borne by the SLO.
